The Resurrection of Jesus (2)

I Corinthians 15:1-21, 36-58

Paul wrote many letters to his friends in the new Christian churches. These letters are now part of the Bible. The letters tell the Good News about Jesus. The Good News is that Jesus died on the cross for all people and was raised to life by God's power.

Jesus Christ died for our sins. He was buried. Then God raised Jesus back to life. His disciples saw him alive. More than 500 people also saw Jesus at one time. And Paul saw him, too. But some people did not believe that Jesus came back to life.

It is important to believe that Jesus rose from the dead. Because Jesus lives today, we have real life. His death would mean nothing if he had not come back to life.

We would still be dead in our sins. Jesus' death and resurrection mean that whoever believes this can be saved from sin. We can have eternal life through faith in Jesus.

Adam was the first man, but he sinned. Because he sinned, death came to the world. Because of Adam, all people are born in sin. All people die. But all believers in Christ will be raised to new life because he was raised to life.

We now live in human bodies. Our bodies will die. They will be buried. But we will not stay dead. We will be raised from the dead with a new body.

In heaven, Christians will live with God forever. This is because Jesus died for us. He was raised to life again for us. We thank God for this.

Answer the questions.

1. What is the gospel (Good News) Paul preached?
2. Why did Jesus rise from the dead?
3. What does it mean that Christians will live with God forever?
4. How do you know that you will rise from the dead?

Listen and write one word per line.

smiling, sneezes, small, snails, snake,
smart, smoking, snack, sniffles, smell
